Q62 - [Optional] Do you have additional comments about any of the questions above?

[Optional] Do you have additional comments about any of the questions above?

no

I was in a very bad position were I got more then bullied and harrassed all year by one girl in my old homeroom. When I got very bad and made me feel terrible we called Mr.bricky and he handled it amazingly. We switched my team and he let me pick my new homeroom and checks in and makes me feel like i'm not alone in all of this.

I mean no teacher teases me, but, one embarrassed me greatly

Sometimes students leave out people which makes them kind of sad.

A kid in my class now can scare me sometimes and made me feel uncomfortable.

NO

I don't like talking to counselors, because talking about personal things face to face makes me uncomfortable. I usually prefer messaging, and sometimes I'm worried if I talk to a counselor, they might tell my parent if I ever came out as Trans, Enby, Homosexual, etc. I don't think my parents would approve, but I don't want them to control my WHOLE life, and that also isn't really their decision to make, in my opinion.

I get left out and bullied a lot. Sometimes I feel uncomfortable by how the teachers treat me.

There is a lot of cussing and body shaming

no

i dont like how some of my freinds treat me a kid i sit next to in art keeps making me uncomftable with inaprotriate comments.

Some teachers (male) can come off in a creepy way I never felt physically uncomfortable because I had many people around me but but when you are around the teacher it is a common thought. Not because of the way they look it is more of actions what they say and what they do.

Novi Middle School isn't the kindest school out there and it's mostly because of the kids. I've had a not-so-fun-time here due to the students around me and it harmed my mental health, making me consistently want to skip school altogether. This is why I'm very excited to be leaving, going to a different school in a completely different town.

The safety issues were during the time of the Oxford shooting, and additionally a few times in having the realization that the new secure entrance does not seem any more secure in their process due to the lack of checking IDs.

Reference one of first pages.

I specifically felt unsafe when the Oxford shooting occurred.

The part about not feeling physically safe in school was just around the time of Oxford when everyone was worried. Not anymore.

i try to go to the counselors office when i'm not emotionally stable and one of them is always like we don't do drop ins come at another time

From my perspective, bullying isn't the problem in this generation, it's students mental health due to schooling.

Well, s as lot of people did try to include me; I'm a bit of a loner, so that "exclusion" doesn't really get to me.

I've considered skipping class before. I decided not to because I figured it'd only cause more problems.

[Optional] Do you have additional comments about any of the questions above...

Obviously the Oxford shooting contributed to physical safety paranoia

the Oxford shooting creates an outlier

The only time I felt physically unsafe was in the aftermath of the Oxford High School shooting. I think everyone was on edge after that. 1 person used to harass me a lot over text, but he stopped after I blocked him, since, of course, I don't know and don't care what he's saying anymore.

No

no

The not feeling physically safe was right after Oxford it just made me really tense. The slideshows and ALICE drills don't ever help.

A day or 2 after Oxford happened

The physically safe question has more to do with the Oxford shootings and my own concerns and not the school environment/culture.

with the violence that seems to take place at schools so often, I never really feel safe at schools. You can secure and lock the doors all you want but usually the violence occurs from someone inside the building (such as a student). There's nothing that can really be done about that so there's always a bit of anxiety about that

High School is full of drama and I wish the kids here were more understanding.

Excited is used in the context of panic/fear.

The vast majority of these negative emotions root from school. Not socially in school at all, just the educational and athletic portion.

Student mental health is a huge problem are school is ignoring.

This school year has been the most chaotic school year I have had. My home life is very unstable and I often don't feel that comfortable, safe, or welcomed in my house. The unfortunate truth is that the ways I do not feel comfortable cannot be changed because they are mindsets and beliefs that my parents hold over me and they use them to prevent me from doing the things I love or being with the people who make me happy. Generally, I am a happy person and I get through my issues intact but lately it has been very emotional for me.

no

the thing I want to learn is how many different people/raices that are in the district.

no

no

No

wait what?

Thanks for events like the discovery food and stress balls, also rollerskating party.

I think people in school think cussing makes them cool, but it really doesn't and I wish people knew that. I also wish that people knew that if you are in a relation at such a small age then they are going to ruin their own lives. Sometimes, school can be stressful due to all the side things that you might not be comfortable with, but other than that, school is really fun because you get to spend time with friends and learn new things from teachers you love.

No

no

It's not about the school's climate and culture, it's about me. I get hurt a lot so every once in a while I might come into school with a pillow/sling/crutches/air boot.

No, not really

A lot of people don't respect neither teacher nor students with silence, and there's some people saying bad words in recess

NO

I like my school a lot, I really just wish students were more nice to me.

Every teachers and students in this school is over all good. But sometimes, rarely some students ignore me or be offensive to me with no reason.

I can't deal with Takuma and Roi anymore, I want to give them their comumance.

Please come and check in with Ms.Kable, Im scared of her. I dont feel safe in her class. She makes me feel like well... depressed and emo. just please check in with her

No! :)

Is there anything else you would like us to know about our school's climate...

I think my school could try to show a little more support towards Muslims and Middle-Eastern people, and do a little more to stop the racist comments and white-supremecy ideas that pop around school sometimes.

nope

We need more kindness in the school and not being so plain up mean

Some teachers, when they teach social studies, discriminate against christians. I had this teacher, who said there were too many christians and too many christian holidays. very rude!

The schools have a very rich and diverse culture! We have people from all continents of the world, from North America, Africa, European, Asian, and even a few people from South America. Our climate however, although not completely horrible, does have it's down sides. People, especially at the end of the year, can become a lot more mean or attention-hogging.

no

it has been a really good school year it went by really fast i wish it was a little longer but i am still moving to california next week so yea.

no

I trust that you guys would do stuff to fix the district, but I think that in some ways, you should be a bit more harsher to the students. Or else, we won't listen.

I think that certain things I answered was because of my background at home

I don't feel very comfortable in school i don't like the area i just don't like it in general. School to me is mentally draining its over 30 hours a week that we spend just sitting in a classroom and none of my teachers genuinely care about me besides my math teacher. I feel like the teachers are constantly judging me and i will hate them everyday for making me feel that way.

I enjoyed this school year, I am happy with every test. I have nothing bad to say.

No

There are a lot of students that are bullied and sometimes do bad thing because of peer pressure,(they want to be cool and popular).

To be honest, It's just about the phone thing. I know I know, its distracting but were in 6th grade, people our age are able to have their phone. Sometimes it's not just for playing games. Just like our chromebooks when the teacher says not to have them out people in MY class don't until the teacher tells us to. in passing time we should be able to have our phones out. Adults think kids are completely obsessed with their phones but that's not usually the case. We can take our eyes off our phones and plus, people in this school sneak their phones all the time most specially in mr burrys team so the teachers really need to pay attention to that. and plus, for me next year im very glad im going to middle school and im going to be able to have my phone our in lunch because I don't really want to have a bunch of friends next year. and what if i do have friends and they arent in my lunch? what do i do? Since i have my phone i could call them, watch netflix or just do something that entertains me instead of just eating alone. The reason I don't want friends is because I want to focus on my studies and getting good grades.

I appreciate everything that this school has done for me.

Nope, but I do want people to know how great this district is. The district provides a safe environment for students to excel, and get good grades.

Sometimes, the classrooms are cold.

btw i was out so much because i had covid picking my own seat in class would be nice

School can be really fun when you fun with EVERYONE!!

no

I enjoy being part of this school

I want to learn about another language. Like Korean

Student bullying is a really bugging thing for me. Adults should try to solve this problem in many ways possible. There should always be someone on the lookout when somebody is getting bullied.

If I were to rate my experience in my school district so far I would rate it a 4.5. It's a very nice and friendly school districts. It gives you a lot of opportunities as well.

Is there anything else you would like us to know about our school's climate...

I honestly think many 6th graders other than my friends are very annoying. There is little diversity in the teachers (in their ethnicity) but they are nice. Some of my friends say that they feel that there is discrimination at this school. There isn't good language (there's a lot cursing) from some students and they sometimes say inappropriate things. Most of the time you see kids rough-housing it's not to hurt each other. I really like the diversity in my peers and getting to know more about their culture.

No. I don't think so...

Can we please get more parties and ban IREADY it hurts my brain and it makes me almost smash this chromebook!!!!!! Thanks

There are a lot of kids that make fun of me and the kid that I'm dating because he has colored skin and I have white skin.

Swearing. tons and tons of swearing as if were in high school.

Disordered. Many people are not really respecting others culture. I don't like this school.

I want to be inside in recess.

No thank you.

No, it's fine

I want to know what countries there are

I wish that we could get outside more or have parties instead of learning all the time and the only time we get out is lunch recess or if we get a test.

No. :)

I don't have any question

I have a complaint about our school's girls bathrooms. Many girls get their periods and don't have tampons available with them so I request the school district to regularly fill the tampon dispenser in all the girls bathrooms.

I like school, and one of my dreams is to change the world.

ms kable is mean, unfair, does not teach me things, and gender biased.

Some of the teaches(ms.Kable)is mean,unfair,does teach me things.

Nothing else..

nope everything is good and it's a great school

None.

ms. Osmonson is the worst teacher in the school. She does not care and hates all the kids, she insults us and has clear favorite students. She enjoys making everyone mad and misirible. Meanwhile we have teachers like Mr. Minard, sinawi and laney who try and connect with us. Teachers like Ms. Schulze, gallager, and maranowski actually remember what its like to be in middle school. meanwhile Ms. Osmonson hates all the kids.

I haven't missed a full day of school I just miss like one period because I have doctors appointments, and stuff. ALSO FOR THE LOVE OF GOD PLEASE GET RID OF MRS. GRESHAM SHE IS CRAZY thank you for your time! Have a nice day. -Ria

I don't really have anything much to say. I think that our school's environment is one of the best around and we have really great students. I think bullying should be addressed more by teachers, especially minor bullying as it usually goes under the radar, and people should start controlling more people calling others "gay" as an insult as it cultivates a homophobic or normalized homophobic culture. I also think this Student Council should be tended to more -- that is it should be more organized. There is a lot of misinformation being spread about a lot of candidates and I know of many who are actually being hurt by this, as well as their reputations being hurt. I also think there should be no bribery in Student Council and I think if we're doing Student Council FOR the high school as that is what these elections are, should follow the same rules. That is that there is the rule of "No posters" and things that essentially give people with the monetary means to do so an advantage. But that doesn't mean we shouldn't be allowed to ask people to vote for us, as that is very much allowed at the high school. That's most of what I have to say. Have a great day!

i don't have any question

School is kinda boring, you only learn what you chose 2 hours and sometimes only one (Art, Band, Baking).

The climate is very overwhelming sometimes

None in particular.

No, the school is a wonderful climate to be in.

Maybe try and control what goes on at lunch a bit more. I know you have been trying your best, but sometimes it gets out of control. For example, me and my friends are squeezed in between a bunch of tables with loud guys. We get food "unintentionally" thrown at us, comments thrown back and forth between them, and we'd do anything to get that to stop.

all lunches were free this year...so... yeah!

No, I think this survey covered everything.

I think we should have less rules. Not in the way where it's chaos, but I generally think that us needing an adult to supervise us in the courtyard is kind of over the top. I also think that like bathroom passes and stuff like the Ehall passes are kinda dumb also because there's really no need for them. I get why we have them, but I don't think the whole school should be restricted just because a few people don't follow rules. I just think punishment should be well deserved and not just to everyone. And I kinda wish advisory was everyday for less time, and I wish that we could just use that as a time to do or go wherever in the school instead of needing passes. I feel like many people wanna hang out with their friends during advisory to relieve stress and stuff, and if they're doing nothing wrong then I don't see why not. In conclusion, I wish we just had a less restrictive environment.

After attending Novi High School for four years, I can safely say that I do not like it here. I don't hate it, and I do realize that I could be in a way worse situation, but the climate is not always conducive to me. In more blunt terms, as a black female student, I don't feel as heard and valued as the white males that go here. They get away with a lot. They could blatantly disrespect a student and the whole thing will go unnoticed. I understand that there isn't much the district can directly do about this, and that it's just a matter of my classmates treating each other better, but I had to get that off my chest. My friend and I have the same gym class, and it seems like everyday after fourth period, we're talking about some sort of rude remark or action made by the guys in our class. Novi High has become somewhat miserable for me. The culture here can be very toxic. Novi is highly competitive, and if you don't get an A in every class, people (if they know about it) shame you for it. I've heard people's friends call them stupid behind their backs for dropping a class, all the while they're struggling in that same class, destroying their mental state for an A. It just seems like this place caters to smart and/or male students. Favoritism is also an issue but I won't get into that since I haven't witnessed it up close. And this is just my personal opinion so take it with a grain of salt, but this is a very dry school. Everyone dresses the same, talks the same, eats and drinks the same, and the cultural diversity isn't as diverse as people on the outside think it is. For the most part, Asian and white students are represented and accepted more, particularly white students, than students of other races are. That's ridiculous. I really don't like how black students are rarely taken seriously and given their due respect unless they're male, really smart, and/or an athlete. It has never been a great day to be a Novi Wildcat. I'm not proud of attending this school. I hardly even feel a part of this school. I have officially outgrown this place and I can't wait to leave. <3

I believe teachers and staff should know that there are people vaping in the bathroom, which is not only uncomfortable to see that there are over 2 pairs of feet in one stall but also very annoying when we see that all of the stalls are used by the vapers.

It's plain and simple. Ppl here are mean and they don't get punished or care about anyone but themselves and their own benefit

Novi is just a great district in all aspects in anyway

It can be really really competitive. Almost every day this year I sit down at my lunch table and there's people finishing presentations last minute, stressing over grades, complaining about/sharing experiences on tests. everyone beats themselves up, and I know part of that is parental culture, but with nearly everyone facing these issues, it builds and builds a very competitive culture in which an A- is a bad grade and people are ashamed to ask for help. With that, I think more encouragement from teachers/staff on how to get extra help would be great- for example, when Ms Cadena used to hold History study sessions- because it creates a better environment of needing to review material and why that's not a bad thing. I think we all have a responsibility to be honest with ourselves and others about struggling, because I KNOW so many of my friends are having a hard time but you would never see it on the outside.

I hate everything about this school besides my friends. Teacher's never noticed that you're struggling. You could be missing a lot of assignments but they just think you're lazy and don't try to get you to help with the counselors. And I feel like I can never talk to the counselors because if I'm ever in their office they always don't give me their full attention and try to get me out of there as quickly as they can. Honors Algebra 2's curriculum needs to change completely, it's very hard to succeed in that class. And spanish classes are unnecessarily hard.

I feel like you need to be kind to are black people more in school in class and in the world than I,m good right that is so good I have been in more schools that were bad for me and my family and I hope you make a difference for me :)

It's a safe and secure school. I think there is still room for improvement, but I'm glad this survey has been sent out to us so that we can be able to voice our opinion. I am dissatisfied with a few of the teachers, which I think can be worked on. For example, my Civics and Economics teacher this year is Mrs. Zielinski. Her teaching style and my learning style differ. I feel like there can be improvement in the way she binds the class without inducing boredom. So it's stuff like that which I get disappointed with. Overall, it's a nice school. Thanks.

Is there anything else you would like us to know about our school's climate...

I personally did not realize a lot of the issues we've had until COVID. Also quite frequently, administration when asked to help, has done little to no work. When a student, especially a group of students, ask for help to step in and resolve a toxic situation, this should be a big priority. In my experience, being in a toxic situation with other adults was already draining but when admin said they would help but did not continue any further action was immensely frustrating. It's things like these situations that make all of the mental health awareness and talks feel meaningless. What is the point of telling your students that you would be there for them if you aren't actually there for them. Overall a.) the climate is very competitive, and nothing concrete is done to fix this b.) admin is very idealistic instead of being realistic which makes a student feel like they are the problem instead of the actual cause.

I'm good. :)

Nope!! Everything is Perfect...

I'd wish I'd had the courage to speak about things that are bothering me

Mr. Lis is the one teacher I truly trust. I had a emotional meltdown and he was actually helpful. He's the only adult that I know that can properly handle the crazy emotions of their teenage students.

the school is literally freezing. I know that's not what you mean when you say climate but like seriously it's so cold. year round.

School isn't and shouldn't be just a place to learn, but a place to differentiate yourself from the masses of other students. It is a battleground, where the strong kill the weak, and smart kill the stupid, and the stable kill the neurotic. School is a spartanist system where those that don't realize are left for dead while those that can game the system rise in power.

lately there's a lot of sexual harassment and issues going on between kids

Nope

Please allow travel on the majority of Monday academic advisories. The time for school work is so needed due to the severe academic competitiveness of Novi. I don't mind maybe doing a presentation once or twice a month, but not every week. I know some of their intention is to help reduce stress (for example the mindful minutes, the presentation on stress management, etc.) but they are anything but helpful. By preventing us from doing work on those days that we should be able too, it just makes us as students even more stressed out. It may seem blunt, but they are NOT helpful. I appreciate this school's effort to care about its student's mental health, but it is being gone about the absolute wrong way and I am confident when I say that the majority of my peers would agree. Also, please start listening to the students more. The most effective way to go about that would be anonymous surveys such as these that are made mandatory or highly encouraged by teachers. It feels very very hard to talk to any sort of administration about how we feel about nearly anything because not can they just be plainly hard to talk to, but I feel as though student suggestions are barely acknowledged, if at all, and then pushed to the side by what administration thinks is best for the students without even testing out student suggestions. Make an effort to listen to your students and try to see it from our perspective sometimes.

The expectations the school, the district, teachers, and parents place on students are far exceeding anything reasonable for people to ask of us. There are those who can and do meet or exceed those standards, but there are also those who can't, and often it feels like they're left behind by these groups because they didn't make the cut. The stress that even successful students like myself feel can be overwhelming, and it's not fair for the school to do that to us. What's worse is that the school system seems to think it's helping by doing things like the current spirit week, and giving us life advice in advisory lessons, when what we really need is a break break from constant academic pressure to find exceeding success in all areas. If you care about us so much, why don't you do anything that actually helps? Give us another travel day, or more time to study in school so we don't have to spend OUR time before and after school building stress as we constantly work to hold up the weight placed upon us as students. To be honest, it seems like the school is really out of touch with what the student body needs. Or maybe I'm just strange- who knows? That's all I have to say. Thanks for your time.

a lot serious topics are overlooked and the school doesn't care about sexual assault and bullying

Address student mental health problems. School should not take up as much time as it does outside of school. A teenagers life shouldn't just be about school, there is other aspects to life that schooling hinders from doing.

Is there anything else you would like us to know about our school's climate...

Improve on yourself. There is plenty of students that go here that suffer everyday by what is called the "upper white" people in this school. You have allowed teachers to work here after they have said the F slur and the N word with a hard ER at the end for a supposedly "teaching matter" but that is all a lie. You have hired people with the genuine disregard of people pronouns and well being. Ask the majority of minority races that's go here and they will say that do not feel safe at all. Racism is portrayed everyday at this school, very prominent as well. There has been time where I've seen or heard someone say a slur or participate in micro aggressions and my self have been there. To the point where majority gets surprised when a non-African American DOESN'T say a slur or ISN'T racist. Novi high has made these type of people comfortable here and it is their own fault that it is NOW a big deal.

This schools social culture is prone to bigotry and racism in such a way that is implicit enough to miss but once you know you hear it all the time. It's unwelcoming to people like me who do not fit the bill of what they think is normal. I am a gay person and I do not feel as if novi is welcoming towards us LGBTQ+ people. GSA is not what it is made out to be and is not welcoming to all people. The presidents have bullied me in the past for being gay among other things. There is next to no LGBTQ+ education in the curriculum to break these implicit homophobic things that students perpetrate on any given day.

The culture surrounding APs and IBs is absolutely suffocating. The pressure is absolutely everywhere, from the adults in my life to other students. It's not just doing well in your classes, it's the ever present feeling that you have to do /better/ than everyone, that you have to do /more/ if you want to be seen. It's toxic and awful but students often have so little control in stopping the cycle.
